2001-02 SEASON NOTES:

- The Raptors qualified for the NBA playoffs for the third consecutive season, finishing with a record of 42-40.
- Toronto faced Detroit in the first round of the 2002 NBA Playoffs, dropping the fifth and deciding game 85-82 at Detroit.
- Toronto set a franchise record holding opponents to 91.8 points per game.
- The Raptors became the only team in NBA history to advance to the postseason after suffering a 13-game winless streak. Toronto also recorded a franchise-record nine-game winning streak en route to finishing the season with 12 wins in its last 14 games.
- The Raptors set a record for home sellouts with 40 in 41 games, averaging 19,784 and ranking fourth in the NBA.
- Vince Carter finished seventh in the NBA in scoring and was the leading vote-getter for the NBA All-Star Game but could not participate due to injury.
- Morris Peterson was selected to the Sophomore Team of the 2002 Got Milk? Rookie Challenge during All-Star Weekend but didn't play due to injury.
- Antonio Davis became the Raptors' all-time leading rebounder Dec. 16 vs. Washington (1,656). In that same game, Hakeem Olajuwon surpassed Oscar Robertson to move into seventh on the NBA's all-time scoring list.

2000-01 SEASON NOTES:

- The Raptors qualified for the NBA playoffs for the second consecutive season, finishing with a record of 47-35.
- Toronto won its first postseason series by defeating New York 3-2.
- The Raptors lost 87-86 to Philadelphia in Game Seven of the Eastern Conference Semifinal.
- Toronto had only one losing month (December) during the campaign.
- The team's 47 regular-season wins was a new high-water mark eclipsing the old record of 45 set last season.
- The Raptors set a record for home sellouts with 27 (since surpassed), averaging 19,348 for the year to rank sixth in the NBA.
- Vince Carter finished first in NBA scoring and was the leading vote-getter for the NBA All-Star Game.
- Antonio Davis and rookie Morris Peterson joined Vince Carter at the All-Star Weekend, marking the first time in franchise history the Raptors were represented by three players at the festivities.
- Vince Carter and Charles Oakley became the franchise-leading scorer and rebounder respectively.
- Three trades added new faces (in - Childs, Clark, Montross, Murray, N'diaye, J. Williams; out - Bogues, Corbin, David, Jackson, Williamson.)
- Toronto finished the season 19-8 after the trade deadline deals with New York and Detroit.
- The Raptors finished the season winning 12 of their last 16 games to clinch fifth seed in the Eastern Conference, their highest seeding ever.
- Carter was named second-team All-NBA while Morris Peterson was selected to the NBA All-Rookie Team.

HISTORY

1996-97 Toronto Raptors. Front Row (L-R): Earl Cureton, Walt Williams, John Long, Hubert Davis, Damon Stoudamire, Martin Lewis, Doug Christie, Popeye Jones, Sharone Wright. Back Row (L-R): Curtis Emerson (senior manager, video operations), Ray Chow (massage therapist), Bryan James (equipment manager), Chuck Mooney (head athletic trainer), Carlos Rogers, Zan Tabak, Acie Earl, Marcus Camby, Darrell Walker (head coach), John Shumate (assistant coach), John Zupizzo (assistant coach), Jim Thomas (assistant coach).

1996-97 SEASON NOTES:

- The Raptors finished with a 30-52 record (18-23 at home; 12-29 on the road).
- The nine-game improvement from the previous year was the sixth biggest jump in the NBA.
- Toronto's total of 51 wins in the first two seasons matched Minnesota's best start for a modern-era expansion team.
- Toronto was one of only four teams (N.Y., Atl., L.A.L.) to defeat each of the top three teams in the league - Chicago, Utah and Miami.
- Damon Stoudamire finished among the league leaders in five different statistical categories.
- Doug Christie finished second in voting for the league's Most Improved Player award and was second in the NBA in steals.
- Stoudamire and Christie combined to the best rebounding guard pair (8.4 rpg) in the league and were second in assists (12.7 apg) and steals (4.0 spg) while finishing sixth in scoring (34.7 ppg) - the only duo to rank among the top six backcourt pairs in each of these combined categories.
- Toronto finished with 34 of their 82 games decided by six points or less (14-20), the second highest number in the league, after Portland's 37.
- The Raptors scored 48 points in the first quarter Jan. 11 at N.J., the best one-quarter output in the NBA this season. They also had 79 points in the first half, also a league-best.
- The Raptors finished among the top ten in blocks (3rd), steals (6th), and forcing turnovers (6th).
- The Raptors averaged 18,267 spectators over 41 home games, the eighth highest figure in the league. Toronto hosted three of the four largest crowds in the NBA this season.

1995-96 SEASON NOTES:

- The Raptors finished their first season with 21 wins, one victory shy of the modern-era expansion record set by the 1989-90 Minnesota Timberwolves.
- Toronto finished third in the league in average attendance with 23,179 per game and had the highest single-game crowd of the NBA season – 36,131 vs. Chicago on March 24. There were 10 gatherings of more than 25,000.
- The Raptors defeated each of the three teams with the best records in the NBA – Chicago, Seattle and Orlando.
- Home record: 15-26; road record: 6-35.
- Toronto's longest winning streak was three games which led to a total of five wins in November. The longest losing streak was seven games, reached twice.
- Toronto was 3-55 when trailing after three quarters.
- The team scored 23 consecutive points Feb. 13, at Miami.
- The biggest comeback for the Raptors was a 22-point deficit vs. Washington on April 19.
- Toronto concluded the season as the youngest team in the NBA.
- Six different Raptors scored at least 30 points in a game, the second highest number to N.J.'s total of seven.
- Damon Stoudamire finished fifth in the league in assists and second in minutes.
- Tracy Murray raised his scoring average from the previous season by 11.4 ppg, the highest increase in the NBA.
- Oliver Miller was one of only five players to record at least 100 points, rebounds, assists, steals and blocks.
- The Raptors set an NBA record on Jan. 9 vs. Charlotte by not making a free throw (0-3) during the game.
- Darrell Walker replaced Brendan Malone as head coach the day after the season ended.
